If a document exists in different versions, including any dissimilar copies (such as a duplicate with handwritten notes on one copy), each version shall be treated as a different document and each must be identified and produced.

If you contend that you are entitled to refuse to fully answer any of this discovery, state the exact legal basis for each such refusal.

These discovery requests are to be interpreted broadly to fulfill the benefit of full discovery. To assist you in providing full and complete discovery, Petitioner provides the following definitional guidelines.

1. The term "person" or "persons" as used herein refers to any natural person, corporation, firm, company, sole proprietorship, partnership, business, unincorporated association, or other entity of any sort whatsoever. Where a company or organization is the party being served all responses must include the company's response. Moreover, the company's designated person for responding must assure that the company provides complete answers. A complete answer must provide a response which includes all matters known or reasonably available to the company.

2. The term "document" as used herein has the full extent of its possible meaning in accordance with law, including any written, printed, typed, drawn, filmed, taped, or recorded in any manner, however produced or reproduced, including but not limited to any writing, drawing, graph, chart, form, photograph, tape recording, computer disk or record, or other data compilation in any form. This definition shall also mean all copies of documents by whatever means made including any nonidentical versions or drafts (whether different from the original because of handwritten notes, underlining, highlighting, or otherwise).

3. The terms "and" and "or" shall be construed conjunctively or disjunctively as necessary to include any information that might otherwise be construed outside the scope of these requests.

4. References to the masculine shall include the feminine, the singular shall include the plural, and vice versa.

5. The term "communication" means any transmission of information by oral, graphic, pictorial or otherwise perceptible means, including but not limited to personal conversations, telephone conversations, letters, memoranda, telegrams, electronic mail, newsletters, recorded or handwritten messages, or otherwise.

6. Each discovery answer should begin by restating the item requested.

7. Where a number of sheets are required to fully answer an item, each sheet should be appropriately indexed, for example, Item 1(a), Sheet 1 of 6.

8. If any information requested is not furnished as requested, please state where and how the information may be obtained or extracted, the person or persons having knowledge of the procedure and the person instructing that the information be excluded.

9. Please respond fully to the request even if it has been partially requested or supplied in prior filings or dockets. The information and Rule 33 and 34 information shall be submitted to this office at 2nd Floor Cordell Hull Bldg. 425 5th Avenue North, Nashville Tennessee, 37243.
